

Consultation on a proposed WCF/FEC European Team Championship

20 September 2006 11:46

Proposed European Team Championship to be held in 2007.

WCF Media Release
20th September 2006.

The World Croquet Federation (WCF) in conjunction with the European Croquet Federation (FEC), is very pleased to announce that a European Team Championship will be held at Cheltenham, England in June 2007. This will feature both Association Croquet and Golf Croquet.

Agreement has been reached with Cheltenham Croquet Club and with sponsors Mitsubishi Motors, to hold the event during the week beginning 25 June with the final on either 30 June or 1 July.

It is expected that teams will consist of three players. Each match will be a combination of Golf Croquet and Association Croquet.

A consultation process will take place with FEC member associations to determine their views on the finer details of the event.

It is also the intention to provide coaching on a variety of aspects of the game both before and after the event (and possibly during the event). The idea is to make this a European Festival of Croquet.